Thank you for your query. I understand your complaint has been accepted for review by the IEEE Ethics and Member Conduct Committee. It would be inappropriate for me to comment or intervene in an on-going process. Moreover, the subject matter is outside IEEE-USA's jurisdiction.

Regards

Chris Brantley

Ethics Complaint

Joseph Kalasky told me it will take him 2 months to decide if there is a cause of action against Gianluca Setti, et. al.. In the meantime, papers will be presented and my understanding is that they will be published by the IEEE Xplore Digital Library and have the status of being peer-reviewed.

This is why I am want to go to Bari and get my paper published. If my paper was accepted, and I gave the presentation, but IEEE Xplore did not publish my paper, I would feel I was cheated out of my plane fare and other expenses. I think you should withdraw IEEE endorsement of the conference before the presenters go the expense of going there.

What would you do it the Italy Section organized a conference on intelligent design and accepted only papers that promoted ID?

By the way, I sent all of the correspondence about this matter to Roberto de Marca.

Withdraw
